Language progress regardless of student's mother tongue

eKidz.eu texts can be read and simultaneously listened to. Narration speed is adapted to the student's reading level and spoken by native, professional voice actors who model correct pronunciation.
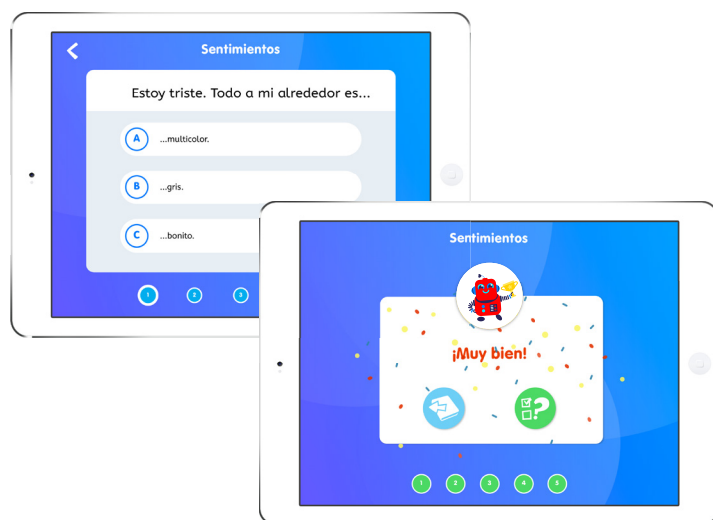

Students benefit greatly from listening, speaking and practising their new language at homes where the target language is not understood or spoken. In fact, there is nothing to stop the adults and siblings from learning along with them!

Contents and functionalities have been didactically developed. The fiction and non-fiction texts are based on common curriculum content and vocabulary is drawn from age-appropriate and high frequency recommended word lists.

Voy en patinete.

Atravesaban un día los campos de Castilla cuando descubrieron a lo lejos unos treinta o cuarenta molinos de viento.
—¡Qué suerte, Sancho! Mira, unos terribles gigantes con enormes brazos. Aquí estoy yo para librar al mundo de semejante peligro —clamó Don Quijote.

Record and monitor student performance level

eKidz.eu makes it easier for parents and teachers to track their student's progress and performance level. Children can share their recordings of reading aloud and story retelling with teachers and parents. eKidz.eu uses both information retrieval, knowledge-based and inference questions to assess student's comprehension at the end of each text. Results are shared real time and in-app with teachers and parents. This information allows teachers to promptly assess and intervene in the learning process.

NEW! Recording function:

- improves reading fluency
- increases motivation
- practise pronunciation

Students, parents and teachers LOVE our new recording function. It serves as a tool to motivate, practise pronunciation, improve fluency as well as a record of reading progress for teachers to assess, reward and intervene.

This means new creative possibilities for productive text work (radio plays, setting the text to music, meaningful reading). Together with the new view options, this makes great opportunities to create varied, inspiring and imaginative lessons.
